

Dear Premium Customers,

As announced before, we have developed an app to keep you up to date with the latest important health information. Especially now, with the start of the winter season, it is important that we can reach you quickly with information about the latest developments that has been individualized to your personal situation, for example concerning the current prospects for a vaccine. We therefore recommend that you download our Salvogene Premium app now, so that you can be assured of having the most up-to-date information. This is a highly exclusive service and is only available to our customers with a valid Premium membership.

If you have an iPhone, you can download the app from the App Store. Android users will find it on Google Play. Once downloaded, you can create an account in only a few seconds. You only have to enter your name, e-mail address and a password and you will be directed to our start sites with basic information.

Notification Service

Once you created the account, you will be able to receive messages from us over this app. We are careful in selecting messages that will provide an individual benefit to you and are specifically relevant to your personal condition and individual requirements, and we only send those that are of specific interest to you. You will receive them as push messages, very much like a WhatsApp message. To make sure you receive them, please remain logged in to your app and don't log out. At any time, you can open your app and select/read all the messages you have received from us so far.

Your individual ToDo's

But the app offers you more functions. We have a section with your ToDo's regarding Supplements, Nutrition as well as environmental and physical ToDo's, which you know already from your Premium program. When you first enter into the app, you will see some basic information, which we will exchange for your personalized one, once the account is active.

Your personal next steps

You will also see a pop-up window when you open the app, which reminds you on your next steps, for example, when your next blood test should be scheduled or when it would be time to re-order your supplements. Please note, that it might take 2-3 days until you see your individual information.

More functions

There is also a section, where you can see all our current podcasts. Under the point "Settings", you can add and change information of your account, contact us or read more information about our programs.

Further developments

But this is only the first step! As the development of the app progresses, we will then add further functions. You will be able to review your test results with a better and faster accessibility. This includes the key values to be optimized as well as the most important indicators in relation to the pandemic, such as cytokine levels and C-19 risk factors.

Reminder function

Further steps in development will include a reminder function for granulate orders, as well as a calendar view of upcoming precautionary check-ups and Salvagene tests.

Drug tolerance

Information on individual drug tolerance will also be included so that, in the event of an emergency, the physician treating the member can immediately see which medications can be used effectively and what side effects are to be expected. As a result of the pandemic, we expect a significant increase in the number of approved drugs coming onto the market; all of them will have individual tolerability levels, which we will check within your pharmaco-gene profile. Current examples are dexamethasone and remdesivir.
